

September 2019

From the President

October is almost upon us, and most people think of everything pumpkin spice, football and the onset of cool temperatures (yes, please).

October is also the official Breast Cancer Awareness Month and a time when CREW Charlotte proudly celebrates our community outreach and the Breast Cancer Awareness initiative "Queen City in Pink".

I recently read an article that combined both football and breast cancer: a story of love, redemption and loss. It is a long read, but well worth it and I promise you will be moved to tears. You can read the article

The story of Blake and Wendy Anderson captured the nation's attention. However, attention for most breast cancer victims and their survivors is limited to family and close friends. I was very moved watching the Arkansas State vs. University of Georgia football game when I witnessed this incredible outpouring of love demonstrated toward Blake Anderson, the head coach of Arkansas State. Anderson was welcomed to a sea of pink as he entered the opponent's stadium watching the UGA fans proudly honored his late wife. Sadly, Wendy lost her battle with breast cancer a few weeks ago at the age of 49, but she taught us to maintain a courageous spirit and to never give up! She also managed to raise awareness for all the women who continue to fight this ugly disease.

Please consider doing all that you can to support Go Jen Go, Komen Charlotte, the American Cancer Society, Primax Pink Warriors or any other organization that will support research and help those afflicted with cancer and their families. Ladies, if you have not been screened or if you are overdue for a mammogram, please schedule one. October is also a great time to raise Breast Cancer Awareness by turning your office, buildings, office parks and homes with everything PINK! You can also show your support by wearing the Breast Cancer Awareness Month pink ribbon, which symbolizes awareness. For additional information, please click here.
